Dear Fellow American Patriot,

I am a Conservative Republican running for the 63rd State Assembly District and I humbly ask for your vote. I am an Iraq War veteran, a law enforcement officer, and I served three consecutive terms on the California State Parole Board. While I believe that I am the most qualified candidate for the job, I hope to appeal to you on a more personal level.

Every weekend since January, I have gone door-to-door throughout our communities, speaking with voters on critical issues affecting our families. The main sentiment that people have expressed is that they are tired of career politicians who place their desires above their constituents. Although I have plenty of experience in government, I have never held elected office. I have run my campaign with the message, "Vote for a veteran, not a politician." This has resonated with citizens all over the district. Like many people in our state, I would like to:

- Cut taxes to create investment and new jobs
- Stop out of control spending and government waste
- Fight illegal immigration, gangs and crime
- Improve our schools

I want California to be the Golden State again – a safe place where my three young daughters can grow up to live a better life than I have. However, with California’s current liberal policies, the future seems bleak.

With this in mind, my wife Brenda and I faced a difficult question upon my return home from Iraq: should we wave the white flag of surrender and move to Texas, or should we stay in California and fight to restore Conservative values? After careful consideration, reflection, and prayer, we decided to do what I have done throughout my life – rise to the challenge.

We have a difficult fight ahead of us, and we face a difficult adversary in the form of liberal Democrats. However, I am prepared to go to Sacramento to work for you and restore California as the business-friendly state it once was. In the final days of this campaign, you will receive dozens of mailers from my opponents. I know you will face a difficult decision in choosing who to vote for, yet I would be honored to earn your trust and your vote by June 8th.

I am a veteran and law enforcement officer with a proven track record of fighting enemies, both foreign and domestic. I ask you to stand with me so we can go to Sacramento and truly make a difference. I am ready to work with other Conservative Republican leaders to get this state back on the right track, but I can’t do it without your vote. Yours truly,

Paul Chabot, Conservative for State Assembly
